

Supplying exact geometry does not close the gap to the solver

The bottleneck moves with model strength

